

Graduate Seminars in Narrative and Biographical Research

The Centre for Narrative Research, UEL

and

The Gender Institute, London School of Economics

All seminars take place on Tuesday evenings, 5.00-6.30, at the London School of Economics. Rooms to be announced in autumn through the CNR elist and GI website

All welcome, especially graduate students. For further details contact Corinne Squire (c.squire@uel.ac.uk), Ros Gill (r.c.gill@lse.ac.uk) or Hazel Johnstone (h.johnstone@lse.ac.uk). Details are also on the CNR website: <http://www.uel.ac.uk/cnr/home.htm>, and the Gender Institute website: <http://www.lse.ac.uk/depts/gender/narrative.htm>

October 5: Sofie Bager-Charleson, Surrey University and Lund University. The parents' school? Narrative research about parental involvement in schools

November 2: Jill Reynolds, The Open University. Choice and chance in the dance of singleness

December 7: Dina Matar, London School of Economics. Narrative and news consumption – the Palestinian diaspora in Britain

February 1: Helen Taylor, University of East London. Stories of 'home': Researching Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot refugee narratives in the metropolitan context of London

March 1: Josephine Wilson, London School of Economics. A Multi-narrative Approach to Multi-site Subjectivities: The deconstruction of a unitary understanding of trans subjectivity through narrative research.

April 5: Cigdem Esin, University of East London. Sexual Narratives of Two Generations of Women in Turkey

May 4: JongMi Kim, Coventry University. Techno-marriage as alternative choice in South Korea?

June 7: Lucy Simons, Southampton University. Community mental health nurses' narratives of treating people with common mental health problems

July 5: Stefanie Buckner, University of Central Lancashire. 'Pulling it all together': from individual biographical-narrative interviews to the final report in a multi-method evaluation study