The summary - UCAS programme profile

BANNER BOX:

This programme offers an exciting combination of criminology, psychology and sociology. The degree programme offers an in-depth study of crime, offenders, criminal justice and victimisation. It aims to develop knowledge and understanding of the major criminological theories, current issues and debates, and working of the criminal justice system. Additionally this degree aims to develop in-depth knowledge and understanding of socially aware psychology, alongside an individual-sensitive sociology, in an interdisciplinary framework.

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

Typical Offer: 240 UCAS tariff points (of which a maximum of 160 points must be for 6 and/or 12 module awards).

Our admissions policy is to consider each applicant on their merits, guided by progressive principles, including a commitment to the UEL aim of widening access to higher education to non-traditional groups.

Normal requirements for the full-time undergraduate programme include:

- 240 UCAS points together with 3 subjects at GCSE grade C or above, including English Language.
- BTEC National Certificates and Diplomas or appropriate GNVQ's.
- International qualifications of equivalent standing.
- Access to Higher Education
- Introduction to Law & Criminology Short Programme, (six week short course programme).

240 UCAS points together with 3 subjects at GCSE grade C or above, including English Language.
BTEC National Certificates and Diplomas or appropriate GNVQ's.

International qualifications of equivalent standing.

Access to Higher Education

Introduction to Law and Criminology Short Programme, (six week short course programme).

All applicants are considered in the light of their previous education and work experience.

Students may be admitted through Accreditation of Experiential Learning (AEL) or Accreditation of Certificated Learning (ACL) processes.

In the case of applicants whose first language is not English, then IELTS 6.0 overall with 6.0 in all components (or equivalent) is required. International qualifications will be checked for appropriate matriculation to UK Higher Education undergraduate programmes.

In the case of applicants whose first language is not English, the University's English Language requirements as detailed on the website at time of application must be met – see http://www.uel.ac.uk/international/application/english-language-requirements/

At UEL we are committed to working together to build a learning community founded on equality of opportunity - a learning community which celebrates the rich diversity of our student and staff populations. Discriminatory behaviour has no place in our community and will not be tolerated. Within a spirit of respecting difference, our equality and diversity policies promise fair treatment and equality of opportunity for all. In pursuing this aim, we want people applying for a place at UEL to feel valued and know that the process and experience will be transparent and fair and no one will be refused access on the grounds of any protected characteristic stated in the Equality Act 2010.

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

What is Criminology and Psychosocial Studies?

Criminology is the study of crime and Criminal Justice is the study of society's response to criminality. Within this programme the criminology elements are concerned with the investigation of formal and informal responses to social transgressions, the classification and definition of crimes, explanations of criminal and deviant behaviour and the occurrence and experience of crime and punishment. It is an exciting inter-disciplinary subject, combining a number of social sciences, notably sociology, social psychology, law and politics.

Psychosocial Studies offers new ways of exploring the relationships between individuals and their society. It encompasses both the individual focus of psychology and the broader concerns of the social sciences with society, history and culture. It provides a unique opportunity to study a socially-aware psychology and alongside an individual-sensitive sociology in an interdisciplinary framework.

Criminology and Psychosocial Studies at UEL
At UEL, Criminology provides both a strong theoretical grounding and more applied study through a variety of criminology options, and also a comprehensive coverage of criminal justice practice. Psychosocial Studies has been a distinct area of teaching at UEL since 1983. It emerged in response to growing student demand for programmes that addressed both individual experience, and larger-scale social processes, and UEL was the first university to offer a degree in this area.

Students come from a wide range of social, national and educational backgrounds, a diversity that we view positively as enriching the degree experience.

Staff who teach on the degree are strongly involved in research and policy, and this cutting-edge work feeds into many modules.

The BA programme has a significant option element, including modules relevant to later professional work.

Our BA programme is available full-time and part-time which offers students maximum flexibility in terms of attendance patterns.

Programme structure

The full-time BA (Hons) Criminology and Psychosocial Studies degree can be undertaken on either a full-time or part-time basis; the former is a three-year programme and the latter can be completed in a minimum of four years. The programme has compulsory modules at levels 4 and 5, providing students with the core foundational knowledge required to pursue more advanced studies. At level 6, there is one core dissertation module and a choice from a wide range of option modules.

In order to provide flexible study arrangements, it is generally possible for students who successfully complete their assessments, to change from full-time to part-time study, or vice versa, after level 4.

Learning environment

Teaching methods vary from module to module but include lectures, seminars, tutorials, workshops and individual supervision. The emphasis is on student participation and small group work within a supportive learning environment. Student learning is supported by lecture notes, module handbooks and suggested reading. Direct class contact is supplemented by on-line interactive programme materials, individual reading and preparation for assignments. Learning resources include IT and access to electronic databases and specialist library facilities.

The School is committed to the development of key transferable academic and research skills, which are integrated into our teaching and assessment throughout the degree. New students are also provided with additional study skills support to assist them in the early stages of their university career.

Assessment
All modules on the BA are assessed and must be passed. However, assessment at level four does not count towards the final award classification. Assessment is by a mix of coursework and examination. Coursework includes essays, research reports, reflective reports, group and seminar presentations and a level six project. Assessment methods vary across the degree according to the learning outcomes of the individual module.

Work experience opportunities

At level six, a work-based-learning module is available as an option module. Students will also take a core module at level 5 to help develop key employability skills for working in the relevant sectors.

Project work

All students on the degree are required to undertake a 8,000-10,000 word research project on a relevant subject of their choice in their final year. This enables specialisation in a key area of personal interest and allows students to put into practice the research skills acquired during the programme. Students may choose to focus their project work for the purposes of career development or simply to broaden their areas of expertise. The student is supported on a one-to-one basis by regular meetings with an academic supervisor with research and/or theoretical expertise in the area.

Added value

The programme is designed to enhance students' general transferable skills; such skills being central to the successful completion of the degree and the future working lives of graduates. The range of expertise available in the School enables students to choose from a wide variety of option modules that will help prepare them for a range of careers.

How we support you

Our students come from a wide range of backgrounds, and we aim to help each student reach their own unique potential. On arrival, students are allocated a personal tutor who will be their first point of call for academic guidance and pastoral care throughout their time with us. Students should normally meet their personal tutor on a weekly basis through the first 2 semesters. Personal tutors may be consulted during their office hours, or contacted by phone or email. Students may also consult the year tutors on matters relating to their level or programme of study. The year tutors also run regular sessions, such as Year Meetings, Careers Days, Module Choices days.

The University offers facilities for advice on residential matters, student finance, employability, ICT, careers, study skills and training, counselling and student union support. In addition to these general services the School of Business and Law provides:

- Additional support for level four students in Core Study Skills
- Students with problems, whether internal or external to the degree programme, can also be referred to the relevant University experts (for example, the UEL Counselling Service and the SMART team for financial advice);
- Approachable and efficient teaching and administrative staff.
- The School and also the UEL Careers Service, offers comprehensive careers advice, including the provision of talks from external speakers. The School benefits from a full time Employability Manager.
- The School is continually developing links with local and national employers to further the practical careers support given to students; and
- Students receive IT training and instruction in utilising on-line materials.

The programme structure

Introduction

All programmes are credit-rated to help you to understand the amount and level of study that is needed.

One credit is equal to 10 hours of directed study time (this includes everything you do e.g. lecture, seminar and private study).

Credits are assigned to one of 5 levels:

3 equivalent in standard to GCE 'A' level and is intended to prepare students for year one of an undergraduate degree programme

4 equivalent in standard to the first year of a full-time undergraduate degree programme

5 equivalent in standard to the second year of a full-time undergraduate degree programme

6 equivalent in standard to the third year of a full-time undergraduate degree programme

7 equivalent in standard to a Masters degree

Credit rating

The overall credit-rating of this programme is 360 credits.

Typical duration

The typical duration of this programme is 3 years full-time or a minimum of 4 years part-time. It is possible to move from full-time to part-time study and vice-versa to accommodate any external factors such as financial constraints or domestic commitments. Many of our students make use of this flexibility and this may impact on the overall duration of their study period. A student cannot normally continue study on a programme after 4 years of study in full time mode unless exceptional circumstances apply and extenuation has been granted. The limit for completion of a programme in part time mode is 8 years from first enrolment.

How the teaching year is divided

The teaching year begins in September and ends in June.

A typical student, in full-time attendance mode of study, will register for 120 credits in an academic year. A student in a part-time mode of study may register for up to 90 credits in any academic year.

What you will study when
A student registered in a full-time attendance mode will take 120 credits per level. Typically this will be comprised of four 30 credit modules. The exact number may differ if the programme is comprised of 15 or 45 credits modules. An honours degree student will complete modules totalling 120 credits at level four, modules totalling 120 credits at level five and modules totalling 120 credits at level six.

*Please Note – A core module for a programme is a module which a student must have passed (i.e. been awarded credit) in order to achieve the relevant named award. An optional module for a programme is a module selected from a range of modules available on the programme.

Requirements for gaining an award

In order to gain an honours degree you will need to obtain 360 credits including:

- A minimum of 120 credits at level four or higher
- A minimum of 120 credits at level five or higher
- A minimum of 120 credits at level six or higher

In order to gain an ordinary degree you will need to obtain a minimum of 300 credits including:

- A minimum of 120 credits at level four or higher
- A minimum of 120 credits at level five or higher
- A minimum of 60 credits at level six or higher

In order to gain a Diploma of Higher Education you will need to obtain at least 240 credits including a minimum of 120 credits at level four or higher and 120 credits at level five or higher.

In order to gain a Certificate of Higher Education you will need to obtain 120 credits at level four or higher.

Degree Classification

Where a student is eligible for an Honours degree, and has gained a minimum of 240 UEL credits at level 5 or level 6 on the programme, including a minimum of 120 UEL credits at level 6, the award classification is determined by calculating:

\text{The arithmetic mean of the best 90 credits at level 6} \times 0.8 + \text{The arithmetic mean of the next best 90 credits at levels 5 and/or 6} \times 0.2

and applying the mark obtained as a percentage, with all decimals points rounded up to the nearest whole number, to the following classification

- 70% - 100% First Class Honours
- 60% - 69% Second Class Honours, First Division
- 50% - 59% Second Class Honours, Second Division
- 40% - 49% Third Class Honours
- 0% - 39% Not passed

Teaching, learning and assessment
Teaching and learning

Knowledge and understanding is developed through

- Module design and content
- Lectures
- Guided independent study
- Seminar and workshop discussion and debate
- Group work
- Worked examples
- Formative assessment

'Thinking' skills are developed through

- Foundation subjects at level one
- Additional core-skills provision
- Seminar work and feedback
- Profiling and the personal tutor system

Practical skills are developed through

- Research Methods teaching
- Seminar work and feedback
- Dissertation work and supervision

General skills are developed through

- Seminar participation
- Formative assessment and feedback
- Core skills tuition and referral support

Assessment

Knowledge and understanding is assessed by

- Coursework essays, problems and case studies
- Seen/unseen Examinations
- Project work

'Thinking' skills are assessed by

- Attention to structure, evidence and critique in the marking criteria
- Research based coursework
- Reflective coursework

Practical skills are assessed by

- Subject specific assessment design e.g. practical exercises for methods programmes.
- Completion of project/dissertation
General skills are assessed by

- Diagnostic test on induction.
- Clear marking criteria for all assessments in relation to expression, spelling, grammar and presentation.
- Assessed oral presentations
- Assessed group work

How we assure the quality of this programme

Before this programme started

Before the programme started, the following was checked:

- there would be enough qualified staff to teach the programme;
- adequate resources would be in place;
- the overall aims and objectives were appropriate;
- the content of the programme met national benchmark requirements;
- the programme met any professional/statutory body requirements;
- the proposal met other internal quality criteria covering a range of issues such as admissions policy, teaching, learning and assessment strategy and student support mechanisms.

This is done through a process of programme approval which involves consulting academic experts including some subject specialists from other institutions.

How we monitor the quality of this programme

The quality of this programme is monitored each year through evaluating:

- external examiner reports (considering quality and standards);
- statistical information (considering issues such as the pass rate);
- student feedback.

Drawing on this and other information programme teams undertake the annual Review and Enhancement Process which is co-ordinated at School level and includes student participation. The process is monitored by the University's Quality Standards Committee.

Once every six years an in-depth review of the whole field is undertaken by a panel that includes at least two external subject specialists. The panel considers documents, looks at student work, speaks to current and former students and speaks to staff before drawing its conclusions. The result is a report highlighting good practice and identifying areas where action is needed.

The role of the programme committee

This programme has a programme committee comprising all relevant teaching staff, student representatives and others who make a contribution towards the effective operation of the programme (e.g. library/technician staff). The committee has responsibilities for the quality of the programme. It provides input into the operation of the Review and Enhancement Process and proposes changes to improve quality. The programme committee plays a critical role in the University's quality assurance procedures.

The role of external examiners

The standard of this programme is monitored by at least one external examiner. External examiners have two primary responsibilities:

- To ensure the standard of the programme;
- To ensure that justice is done to individual students.

External examiners fulfil these responsibilities in a variety of ways including:

- Approving exam papers/assignments;
- Attending assessment boards;
- Reviewing samples of student work and moderating marks;
- Ensuring that regulations are followed;
- Providing feedback through an annual report that enables us to make improvements for the future.

- The external examiner reports for this programme are located on the UEL virtual learning environment (Moodle) on the school notice board under the section entitled ‘External Examiner Reports & Responses’. You can also view a list of the external examiners for the UEL School by clicking on the link below.

http://www.uel.ac.uk/qa/externalexaminersystem/currentexaminers/

Listening to the views of students

The following methods for gaining student feedback are used on this programme:

- Module evaluations
- Informal seminar discussions
- Student representation on programme/field committees
- Student representation on School committees e.g. Student Experience Committee and School Board.
- Effective personal tutor system and level of study representation
- Accessible staff office hours

Students are notified of the action taken through:

- Communication to student representatives
- Circulating the minutes of the committees
- Providing details on the programme noticeboard

Listening to the views of others

The following methods are used for gaining the views of other interested parties:

- Discussions with former students
• External representation on the School Board
• Market research for developing programme provision
• Professional links e.g. with Essex Constabulary and the British Society of Criminology.
